THE PRESIDENT'S ELECTIONEERING TOUR.

From Cleveland to Detroit—Long Speeches Delivered Enroute and Reward at the Latter City—A Citizen of Norwalk Asks a Pertinent Question—The President Considers Himself Insulted—The Party will Reach Chicago Tonight.

DETROIT, Mich., Tuesday.—The journey of the President's party was resumed yesterday afternoon, and continued by railroad from Cleveland to Detroit. Arriving at Elyria, Ohio, at 2:30 P. M., Al Sweet Creek, Dunkirk, and Erie, the enthusiastic crowds were particularly numerous, and the cheers for the President and Andrew Johnson. The party arrived at Cleveland at 6 o'clock, in the evening, and was driven immediately to the Stevens House, where a dinner was in waiting for the President and his friends, and a large number of distinguished citizens were also present at the tables. After the dinner, which was a very sumptuous one, the President appeared on the balcony, and made a few remarks, which were received with great applause. He said that he had not intended to speak, but as he had been called out he would say a few words. He was glad to see so many of the people in the city. The white lines of cannon that the President saw on the way were a very appropriate welcome to the city, which was the first to fire a gun for the Union

THE TROTTING WEEK.

Second Day's Postponement of the Great Trot—Mr. Rarey Here.

It is unknown at the time my announcement of the great race between Dexter and Patchen was postponed until to-day. The track was heavy, the day dreary, and as early as noon it was decided that the postponed race yesterday was an impossibility, but notwithstanding the fact that this was made as generally known as possible there were not less than fifty or sixty persons who were on the ground at the appointed hour yesterday afternoon, and the Driving Park was not deserted by the crowd until after 4 o'clock. Many of these persons had come from a great distance, and were disappointed at the postponement. Among the number were Mr. Rarey, the horse tamer, who had been invited to be present by Mr. Dexter, and Mr. Grey Eagle, of Grey Eagle, Dodge county, Wis., who had come to see the trot, and to bet his money on Grey Eagle. Mr. Flagler, of Milwaukee, was also present, and he, too, had come to see the trot, and to bet his money on Grey Eagle. Mr. Grey Eagle is a fine looking man, and is a farmer by occupation. He is a resident of Grey Eagle, Dodge county, Wis., and believed that Grey Eagle would win. He came to see the trot, and to bet his money on Grey Eagle, and to endeavor, if possible, to secure a match for Grey Eagle with Dexter, Patchen or some other horse. He was disappointed at the postponement, but he will remain over until to-day, and will be on hand to see the trot, the first one, the first contest between Dexter and Patchen, and the first one between Grey Eagle and any other horse. Mr. Flagler, of Milwaukee, was also
